

The splash has been changed to be larger and cover the entire opening where the timer is located. It was found that the shield covering the timer was too small, so it was increased to now cover the entire opening.